

New Students to the School District (in grades that have identified high ability students)

A student that is new to the school district will take the NWEA: MAPS tests soon after his or her first day of school. A committee will examine the NWEA scores along with recent testing information from each child's previous school to determine whether each child qualifies as a student with high abilities.